African Culture

Because it was such a great success last year, we have again invited Crocodile River Music to visit Oxford Middle School to teach us about African Arts.

February 6 will be the school wide African Arts in Education assembly.

Grade 7 grade students will be in small group drum lessons throughout the day; and all students will be attending a concert and presentation on African culture!

In addition to the assembly, students were able to see 15 pieces of genuine African art on display during the month of January.

Many thanks to the Oxford Cultural Council and FOMS for providing the funds this year to make this happen.
